

ILHAM KESUMA Antarabangsa MyNext Mobility by TalentCorp

The transition from education to work can be a challenging phase for Malaysian young talents. This period marks a significant shift as they embark on their professional journeys armed with newly acquired skills and qualifications. Moreover, the realities of the labour market often present unexpected challenges that can impact their future career paths.

International exposure plays a crucial role in equipping young talents with professional skills, broadening their knowledge, and enhancing their employability. By experiencing diverse work environments and cultures, graduates can develop a global perspective that makes them more adaptable and competitive in the job market.

The MyNext Mobility programme is designed to support talented young Malaysians with high potential and skills, offering them the chance to immerse themselves in a dynamic global environment.

MyNext Mobility offers two distinct tracks
